Contents

	List of figures	vi
	List of graphs	i
	List of tables
	Acknowledgements	xi
	Introduction: why do we continue reading books on emerging market firms?
D. 4.	DD X
	RT I
Co	ntemporary meaning and context for international business	5
1	Four questions about international strategy	-
	1.1 What is internationalization today? 9	,
	1.2 Entry mode: why do companies choose only a few? 16
	1.3 Ownership mode: why do company choices vary? 23
	1.4 Internationalization of emerging market firms: what makes the difference? 26
2	The rise of emerging economies: BRIC and beyond	34
	2.1 Historical background of the emerging economies (EEs) 34	24
	2.2 The BRIC quartet of emerging giants 36
	2.3 Emerging economies: the next wave 51
	2.4 Destinations and motives for OFDI from emerging markets 63
	2.5 Institutional determinants for outward FDI from emerging economies 78
	2.6 Russia: still solid as BRIC? 80
3	Sowing knowledge in emerging economies	86
	3.1 International companies in Brazil: the cases of Royal Dutch Shell,	00
	Groupe Casino and Telefónica 86
	3.2 Western firms in China: the cases of Volvo, Disney and Google 99
	3.3 Anglo-American MNEs in India: the cases of Vodafone and Walmart 109
	3.4 Foreigners in Russia: the cases of DHL, Accor and TNK-BP 118
	5 =,,,

4.1 The resource-based view of internationalization 4.1 The resource-based view of internationalization 143 4.2 The rising dominance of institutional perspective 144 4.3 From transaction cost approach to eclectic paradigm 149 4.4 From Uppsala model to network perspective 154  5 Dynamic perspective on internationalization 5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and MEAs: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Clobalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251  9 International strategies of Indian multinationals 9.1 Globalization of India and international investments of Indian firms 261	PART II The changing view of international strategy
4.1 The resource-based view of internationalization 14-5 4.2 The rising dominance of institutional perspective 14-4 4.3 From transaction cost approach to eclectic paradigm 14-9 4.4 From Uppsala model to network perspective 15-4  5 Dynamic perspective on internationalization 5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 16-5 5.3 MNEs and MEAs: the locomotive and the engine 16-9 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 17-6  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 18-6 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 18-9 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 19-7 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 20-1  PART III International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 21-1 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 21-5 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 22-4  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 23-4 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 23-9 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of Indian multinationals 261		141
4.2 The rising dominance of institutional perspective 144 4.3 From transaction cost approach to eclectic paradigm 149 4.4 From Uppsala model to network perspective 154  5 Dynamic perspective on internationalization 5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	4 Theoretical explanation of internationalization 143
4.3 From transaction cost approach to eclectic paradigm 149 4.4 From Uppsala model to network perspective 154  5 Dynamic perspective on internationalization 5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	4.1 The resource-based view of international nerspective 144
5 Dynamic perspective on internationalization 5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III  International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of TIE 251	4.2 The rising dominance of institutional perspective arradion 149
5 Dynamic perspective on internationalization 5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III  International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	4.3 From transaction cost approach to execute parameters
5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III  International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of Indian multinationals  261	4.4 From Oppsaia model to network perspersion
5.1 Export strategy: point of departure 162 5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III  International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	5 Demonic perspective on internationalization	161
5.2 Foreign direct investments: arrival station 165 5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	5.1 Expert strategy: point of departure 162
5.3 MNEs and M&As: the locomotive and the engine 169 5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders? 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of Indian multinationals 261	5.2 Europe direct investments: arrival station 165
5.4 Intangible strategies: fueling the process 176  6 Can competitive advantage cross borders?  6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186  6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189  6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197  6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III  Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals  7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211  7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215  7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals  8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234  8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239  8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	5.2 MNEs and MEAS: the locomotive and the engine 169
6 Can competitive advantage cross borders?  6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	5.4 Intensible strategies: fueling the process 176
6 Can competitive advantage cross borders: 6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III  Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	J.4 Intaligible stategreen from 8	406
6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186 6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III  Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	6 Can competitive advantage cross borders?	186
6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189 6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	6.1 Environmental effects on investing firms 186
6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197 6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201  PART III Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	6.2 International perspective for competitive advantage 189
PART III Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	6.3 Advantages and disadvantages of emerging market firms 197
PART III Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	6.4 How Russian multinationals have gone abroad 201
Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	0,1 2222
Internationalization from emerging markets  7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251
7. International strategies of Brazilian multinationals 7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	PART III Internationalization from emerging markets	209
7.1 Globalization of Brazil and international investments of Brazilian firms 211 7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 215 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	7 International strategies of Brazilian multinationals	211
7.2 Targeting markets selectively: case of Embraer 213 7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	7 International strategies of and international investments of Brazilian firms 211
7.3 Spreading operations globally: case of Vale 224  8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals  8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234  8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239  8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	7.1 Giobalization of Brasil and Arthur 215
8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	7.2 Samueling markets selectively that 3
8 International strategies of Chinese multinationals 8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234 8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251	7.3 Spreading operations government 5
8.1 Globalization of China and international investments of Chinese firms 25.  8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239  8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251  Colorational strategies of Indian multinationals	2. International strategies of Chinese multinationals	234
8.2 Capturing knowledge: case of Geely 239 8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251  C. Learner and strategies of Indian multinationals  261	8 International strategies of China and international investments of Chinese firms 234
8.3 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251  261	8.1 Guounzanon of Cinna and of Geelv 239
261	8.2 Cultivating knowledge: case of ZTE 251
o I the state of t	8.3 Chilivating knowledge. case of
9.1 Clobalization of India and international investments of Indian firms 261	O International strategies of Indian multinationals	261
	0.1 Clobalization of India and international investments of Indian firms 261
9.2 Acquiring to sell: case of Tata Motors 265	0.2 Acquiring to sell case of Tata Motors 265
9.3 Acquiring to learn: case of Wipro 272	0.3 Acquiring to learn; case of Wipro 272
	7.5 Acquiring to team and 5	4.5
10 International strategies of Russian multinationals  28:	10 International strategies of Russian multinationals	283
10.1 Clobalization of Russia and international investments of Russian firms 200	10.1 Clobalization of Russia and international investments of Russian jums 201
10.2 Catching the fish and throwing it back: case of Severstal 294	10.2 Catching the fish and throwing it back: case of Severstal 294
10.2 Associations on the sly: case of Gazprom Neft 300	10.2 Acquisitions on the sly case of Gazprom Neft 300
10.4 Serving customers in a way the state cannot: case of Alfa-Bank 306	10.4 Serving customers in a way the state cannot: case of Alfa-Bank 306

		Contents VII
PA	RT IV
Wl	hat shapes the strategy of emerging multinationals	317
11	Non-market strategy perspective	319
	11.1 From market-based to non-market viewpoint 319
	11.2 Government involvement in the international strategy 321
	11.3 Overcoming the liability of foreignness 328
	11.4 Political connections as a part of strategy 338
12	The irrational side of internationalization	347
	12.1 From oil to chips: moving from natural resources to technology 347
	12.2 Developing absorptive capacity 356
	12.3 Integrating organizations into cultures 365
	Bibliography	375
	Index	411